

CTAC Trauma Screening Checklist: Identifying Children at Risk Ages 6-18

Please check each area where the item is known or suspected. If history is positive for exposure and concerns are present in one or more areas, a comprehensive assessment may be helpful in understanding the child's functioning and needs.

- 1. Are you aware of or do you suspect the child has experienced any of the following: Known or suspected exposure to drug activity, violence, impaired parenting, etc.

If you are not aware of a trauma history, but multiple concerns are present in questions 2, 3, and 4, then there may be a trauma history that has not come to your attention. Note: Concerns in the following areas do not necessarily indicate trauma; however, there is a strong relationship.

- 2. Does the child show any of these behaviors: Excessive aggression, hyperactivity, etc.
3. Does the child exhibit any of the following emotions or moods: Excessive mood swings, chronic sadness, etc.
4. Is the child having problems in school? Low or failing grades, inconsistent performance, etc.
